

Dear author

Thank you for your valuable article. This issue is an important topic for emergency management. My suggestions are below.

1. References are consecutively cited in the text. (etc.. 1,2,3,...)
2. In the introduction section last paragraph, information about the center where the work was done must be transferred to the material-method section.
3. In the material-method section, Shapiro Wilk test doesn't use test for Normal distribution.
4. "The correlation was found between the number of patients handed over and the number of patient admission ($p < 0.05$)." Which one test used for correlation?
5. typographical errors in article must be controlled by native speakers.
